

CALL FOR PAPERS

Innovative Health Education Oriented Towards Rural and Remote Communities

Two international publications for the effort of one!

In late 2005, “Education for Health” and “Rural and Remote Health” will publish a unique, joint issue of their journals. This provides authors the opportunity to have their article published simultaneously in The Network: TUFH’s acclaimed Medline-indexed, print-based journal Education for Health and the freely accessible web-based Rural and Remote Health journal.

Consideration for this special issue will focus on articles that jointly address the themes of the two journals—innovative health education oriented towards rural and remote communities. Authors can submit suitable articles to either journal and should ensure that they clearly indicate their wish to be considered for the joint EfH/RRH issue in their covering letter/email.

Manuscripts should be submitted electronically: either via E-mail to Education for Health: efh@network.unimaas.nl, or via the web-based system of Rural and Remote Health: <http://rrh.deakin.edu.au>.

Submission deadline is 31 October 2004.

The technical requirements and submission instructions for contributions for this special issue will be the same as the Education for Health Instructions for Authors, which are available at: www.the-network.org/efh/instructions.

If you have specific questions, please contact either of us via email.

Ronald Richards, PhD
Editor of Education for Health: Change in Learning and Practice
URL: <http://www.the-network.org/efh>
E-mail: richards@uic.edu

Paul Worley, MBBS, PhD
Editor-in-Chief of Rural and Remote Health
URL: <http://rrh.deakin.edu.au>
E-mail: paul.worley@flinders.edu.au